How did the Fund perform in the last year?

The Fund seeks capital appreciation by using a quantitatively driven strategy designed to emphasize high-quality growth stocks. For the fiscal year ended November 30, 2025, the Fund delivered a return of 1.25% at net asset value ("NAV") for its focused strategy. In comparison, the Fund's broad-based index, the S&P 500 Index, delivered a return of 15.00% over the same period. Performance of securities exhibiting high growth characteristics, as indicated by the Russell 1000 Growth Index, the Fund's secondary benchmark index (which delivered a return of 20.35% for the period), contributed to the high performance.

The Fund's performance was a tale of two periods – first being the post-President Trump election (November 2024) to the Liberation Day fallout (early April 2025) ("phase 1"), and second being the period thereafter ("phase 2"). The Fund was similar to the S&P 500 Index during phase 1 of this period as growth-oriented securities were the laggards in that period. Thereafter during phase 2, the Fund performed well but not to the same degree as the S&P 500 Index and Russell 1000 Growth Index, as those indices were more highly concentrated among a few large companies (i.e., NVIDIA, Apple, Microsoft, Amazon, Alphabet, Meta Platforms, Broadcom, and Tesla). The leading contributors to the S&P 500 Index and Russell 1000 Growth Index remained top-heavy in those companies most tied-in to the Artificial Intelligence build-out theme, and, while the Fund had exposure, the Fund tended to be underweight relative to the sizing in the S&P 500 Index and Russell 1000 Growth Index.

Householding

Rule 30e-1 of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, permits funds to transmit only one copy of a proxy statement, annual report or semi-annual report to shareholders (who need not be related) with the same residential, commercial or electronic address, provided that the shareholders have consented in writing and the reports are addressed either to each shareholder individually or to the shareholders as a group. This process is known as “householding” and is designed to reduce the duplicate copies of materials that shareholders receive and to lower printing and mailing costs for funds. Once implemented, if you would like to discontinue householding for your accounts, please call toll-free at 866-SIXM-ETF (749-6383) to request individual copies of these documents. Once the Fund receives notice to stop householding, we will begin sending individual copies 30 days after receiving your request.
